Application Summary

Application Overview

This first-stage application consists of four required narrative questions, and a series of fill-in fields. The application is divided into two sections and each section has its own tab.

Application Assessment

At the first stage, applications will be reviewed and assessed for alignment with the Law Foundation's mandate areas and racial justice grantmaking framework, including the guiding principles. We encourage grant-seekers to familiarize themselves with the mandate areas and the framework and particularly with the guiding principles. To review the grantmaking framework, please click HERE

Requested Amount

Please note that a detailed budget is not required during the first stage of the application process. We understand that at this early stage, it may not be possible for you to provide this information, and that even if you provide an estimate, as you develop the proposal, the requested amount may change. You may provide an approximate amount up to a maximum of $1,000,000 over a four-year period (up to $250,000 per year).

Start and End Dates

Please note that Generate Grants are intended to support up to four years of activity and the Law Foundation expects to communicate final funding decisions between February to March 2025 (shortlisting decisions for the first stage will be communicated by July 2024).

Word Limit

We have set a limit of 500 words (approximately one page length) for each narrative question. The word limit is set to respect grant-seekers' time and reduce the pressure to figure out every aspect of the project at this first stage of the application. In addition, it allows the Foundation to review applications more efficiently and respond to shortlisted grant-seekers in a timely manner so they can prepare the second-stage application. If you have additional information to communicate about your proposed project or idea, we ask you to use the optional question at the end of the application. Foundation staff will reach out during review of applications, if any additional information or clarity is needed. If the word limits continue to create challenges in completing this application, we invite your feedback related to word limits via the survey link included at the end of the application process.

Feedback Survey

After you complete and submit your application, you will receive an email notification with a short feedback survey. Please complete it so we can continue to improve the grant application process.

Requested Amount: $0.00

Application Summary

Please provide any additional context around connections to your selected mandate area(s).

You may define this based on connections to the Canadian legal system and/or connections to practice of your community's own Indigenous laws and legal orders.

Tell us about your group or organization.

As much as possible, please make sure to:

- Provide a high-level summary of your core activities and/or past or current work.
- Share the extent to which your team or board/staff leadership identifies as Indigenous, Black, and/or racialized.
- Describe your project team; who will be leading the day-to-day activities, working directly with community members, and their experience working with your target community.
- List any key people or partners involved in your proposal if you are applying on behalf of a coalition or collaborative.

Please note there is a 500-word limit (approximately one page length). Please refer to the application guidelines for more information.

Describe the communities you will serve, engage, or work with over the course of the grant period and what community accountability looks like to you. Please refer to the community accountability of the Racial Justice grantmaking principles.

- How long have you worked with and alongside this community?
- How did you invite and engage the community in your work?
- How are you communicating your work and providing support to the community?
- How have you utilized feedback from the community you're working with to improve your work?

Please note there is a 500-word limit (approximately one page length). Please refer to the application guidelines above for more information.

Application Summary

Describe the policy and/or legal issues your group or organization is focusing on for this project and how an anti-racism frame will inform your work. Please refer to the anti-racist frame of the Racial Justice guiding principles.

- What motivated you to start working in this area and how long have you been doing this work?
- Provide a summary of the impacts of this law or policy area on the Indigenous or racialized communities that you are working with based on literature research, community engagement, and consultations you have conducted so far.

Please note there is a 500-word limit (approximately one page length). Please refer to the application guidelines above for more information.
