- Over $16 million in grants
- 75 continuing programs throughout British Columbia
- 18 volunteer governors
- 57 other projects
- 1 vision: A society where access to justice is protected and advanced

Annual Report
The mandate, mission statement, vision and values of the Law Foundation have been adopted by the board of governors. In 2009, the board set strategic priorities for the next five years. These are the principles upon which funding decisions are based.

Mandate
Our legislative mandate is to fund legal education, legal research, legal aid, law reform and law libraries for the benefit of British Columbians.

Our Mission
To advance and promote a just society governed by the rule of law, through leadership, innovation and collaboration.

Vision
A society where access to justice is protected and advanced.

Values
- Integrity
- Diversity
- Respect
- Sustainability

Strategic Priorities 2010 – 2015
- Maintain and improve Law Foundation finances.
- Provide support for Law Foundation grantees.
- Continue the ongoing evaluation of Law Foundation programs and projects.
- Research and address gaps in access to justice in BC — sectoral and substantive.
- Develop new programs and initiatives.

What Does the Law Foundation Do?
British Columbia led the way in 1969 when it established the first law foundation in North America. Since then, every other jurisdiction in North America has followed BC’s lead by establishing a law foundation or similar body.

The Law Foundation of BC is a non-profit foundation created by legislation to receive and distribute the interest on clients’ funds held in lawyers’ pooled trust accounts maintained in financial institutions. Pooled trust accounts are used to hold client funds for short periods, until it becomes feasible to distribute those monies to the client or others. Typically, some funds held in this way are purchase monies in real estate transactions, while others are retainers, settlement proceeds, estate funds, etc.

Because of the difficulty and cost of ascertaining how much interest in pooled trust accounts was attributable to each client’s funds, and because the amount of interest related to each client was usually small, for many years financial institutions paid no interest on these accounts, although the total funds in the pooled account might be substantial. As a result, the financial institutions profited from the use of the funds in the pooled trust accounts without charge.

British Columbia lawyers pioneered a change to this practice in 1969 when they persuaded the provincial government to enact legislation requiring financial institutions to pay interest on these pooled trust accounts to the Law Foundation, which would then use the interest to benefit the public of British Columbia.

The legislation directs the Law Foundation to distribute these funds in five areas:
- legal education
- legal research
- legal aid
- law reform
- law libraries

The foundation recognizes that, while its objects are legal in nature, the income is to be allocated to programs that will benefit the general public of British Columbia.

From its inception through 2014, the Law Foundation has approved grants totalling just over $513 million to support important law-related programs in British Columbia.

How Does the Law Foundation Work?
The Law Foundation is administered by a board of governors (the board), which is responsible for making all decisions concerning grants. It has 18 volunteer members:
- the Attorney General (or his/her appointee);
- 3 persons, not lawyers, appointed by the Attorney General;
- 12 members of the Law Society or the judiciary appointed by the benchers to represent geographical areas of the province; and
- 2 members of the Law Society appointed by the BC Branch of the Canadian Bar Association (CBABC).
The Law Foundation is independent of the government, the Law Society and the CBABC, although its governors are appointed by these bodies. The board has five standing committees:
- Fellowships and Research
- Finance and Administration
- New Grants
- Policy and Planning
- Special Needs Fund

The board and the committees meet regularly during the year.
A staff of 10 assists the board.

How Are Grants Made?
The Law Foundation’s funds are used for the purposes of legal education, legal research, legal aid, law reform and law libraries.
A grant application must fall within one or more of these categories to be considered for funding support, and it must establish that it will result in a clear benefit to the people of British Columbia. Grants are normally restricted to non-profit organizations.

The foundation sets its grant budget and funding guidelines on an annual basis. Those seeking grant support are urged to discuss their proposals with foundation staff before committing time and resources to put together funding requests. If a project appears to fit within the mission statement, program objectives and funding guidelines for that year, a formal proposal with more detailed information will be requested.

Application deadline dates can be obtained by contacting the Law Foundation.

What Are the Law Foundation’s
Program Objectives?
The Law Foundation seeks to ensure access to justice through its program objectives, which are:

1. Legal Education
To promote legal education programs and services in British Columbia to make the law more accessible through:
   a. increasing public awareness of the law and the justice system;
   b. providing education to groups with particular legal needs;
   and
   c. assisting in the academic and professional development of those providing legal services to ensure those services are of the highest quality.

2. Legal Research
To advance the knowledge of:
   a. law,
   b. social policy and
   c. the administration of justice through the identification of areas and issues needing study and analysis and the encouragement and support of projects to address those needs.

3. Legal Aid
To assist in the provision of legal services, including:
   a. advice to and representation of economically disadvantaged persons; and
   b. support of community service and non-profit organizations that address issues that benefit groups of disadvantaged persons or the public.

To facilitate public access to the justice system.
Legal aid includes the Legal Services Society, community-based advocacy, public interest law and other legal aid.

4. Law Reform
To encourage and support projects promoting changes to the law and the administration of justice in accord with current knowledge, values and technology.

5. Law Libraries
To assist law libraries and resource centres to keep their materials current.

To encourage and support projects designed to improve the utility and accessibility to both the legal profession and the public of legal and law-related materials.

Warren Milman, governor, Law Foundation; David Klein, lawyer, Klein Lyons; Luciana Brasil, lawyer, Branch MacMaster, participating in the systemic advocacy workshop organized by the Law Foundation
It is an honour to be reporting to you at the end of my term as chair of the board of governors of the Law Foundation of BC.

2014 was not an easy year, given that it followed the grants budget reductions of late 2013. Fortunately, trust balances in 2014 were high, which means that the foundation did not have to further draw down its grant stabilization fund, and no further grants budget reductions were required at the November 2014 board planning session.

The excellent work done by Law Foundation-funded programs has thus been able to continue for the benefit of all British Columbians.

The board has worked hard to achieve a level of funding that, in the absence of further interest rate decreases, hopefully will provide stability for grantees going forward.

Finances

Interest rates have a significant effect on foundation income because the rate paid on lawyers’ pooled trust accounts is pegged to the prime rate. For six years, from 2008 to 2013, the foundation used its grant stabilization fund to maintain funding for grantees. In 2014, some money was added back into the fund, but there will likely be a significant draw-down in 2015, particularly if the prime rate decreases.

The foundation is grateful to those financial institutions that provide competitive rates of return on lawyers’ pooled trust accounts. We acknowledge the favourable interest rate agreements provided by HSBC Bank Canada, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Royal Bank of Canada, TD Canada Trust, Vancouver City Savings Credit Union, Coast Capital Savings Credit Union and First West Credit Union. We thank members of the profession who choose financial institutions accordingly, as this ensures that the foundation receives the highest possible rates of return.

In light of the declining grant stabilization fund, the board of governors agreed at their November 2013 meeting that the grants budget should be reduced from its previous level of $19.6 million. This reduction was implemented in 2014, and the grants budget is now $16,575,000.

In 2014, the Law Society of BC increased its commitment for pro bono and access to justice initiatives by agreeing to provide $340,000 annually to the Law Foundation for these purposes. The foundation thanks the Law Society for this very important support.

The grants budget of $16.5 million is based on the board’s view of a sustainable funding level for the foreseeable future, taking into account periods of both low and high income. The board has worked hard to achieve a level of funding that, in the absence of further interest rate decreases, hopefully will provide stability for grantees going forward.

The Law Foundation’s administration budget was cut this year — there are two fewer staff at the foundation than there were a year ago (an almost 20% reduction), which is consistent with the guideline that the foundation has for its grantees, namely that no more than 10% of a grantee’s budget be spent on administration.

Grants

In 2014, the foundation assessed 207 applications for funding, and approved $16.5 million in funding for 75 continuing programs and 57 other grants (13 on-track, 11 project and 33 other grants). Recognizing the need for ongoing work in the community in our five statutorily mandated areas, the foundation allocated over $14.7 million of this amount to continuing and on-track programs.

Highlights of Law Foundation-funded work in 2014 include:

- A 45th anniversary celebration was held in April, attended by approximately 150 people, including Attorney General Anton and Chief Justice Hinkson, as well as many current and former governors, staff and grantees;
- An executive directors’ roundtable was held, attended by most of the executive directors of Law Foundation-funded organizations;
- A systemic advocacy workshop was held, attended by lawyers from all of the Law Foundation-funded systemic advocacy organizations;
- A review was conducted of the Law Foundation’s bank compliance processes, to ensure that the foundation is receiving the correct amount of interest; and
- Hundreds of thousands of British Columbians were served by Law Foundation-funded programs.
Governor McCallum worked on the New Grants (chair) and Finance and Administration committees. He brought a thoughtful, pragmatic, community-based perspective to board discussions. Frank Scordo was on six committees while on the board. He was part of the Fellowships and Research; New Initiatives; New Grants; Policy and Planning; Special Needs (chair); and Class Actions committees. Governor Scordo made sure that board discussions always included consideration of regions of the province outside the Lower Mainland.

New to the board as of January 2015 are Judge Marion Buller, Jan Lindsay, QC, Mary MacGregor, QC, and Geoffrey White, all of whom have been appointed by the Law Society.

The Honourable Judge Marion Buller (Westminster County) is a member of the Mistawasis First Nation in Saskatchewan. She was called to the bar in 1988, practised with Connell Lightbody, and was appointed as a judge of the Provincial Court of BC in 1994. She developed and presides in the BC First Nations Court, and was a judge for the BC Northern Circuit Court for seven years. Judge Buller has received the Queen’s Golden and Diamond Jubilee Medals.

Jan Lindsay, QC (Vancouver County), of Lindsay LLP was called to the BC bar in 1981 and has practised civil litigation since that time. She was appointed Queen’s Counsel in 2009. Ms. Lindsay was president of the Law Society in 2014 and has been involved with society activities since 2000 as a bencher and on numerous committees. She is a recipient of the prestigious Lee Samis Award of Excellence, and in 2013 was awarded the BC Women Lawyers Forum Award of Excellence.

Mary MacGregor, QC (Kamloops County), practises law in Kamloops. Called to the bar in 1977, she worked with firms in the Merritt and Kamloops area for several years, then started her own practice in 1995. She works mainly in corporate-commercial law, including clients in the resource and service sectors in the interior of BC. Ms. MacGregor served on the Thompson Rivers University Law School Advisory Committee, was a member of the Canadian Bar Association BC Branch Judicial Advisory Committee, and has worked as a government appointee on several boards. She was appointed Queen’s Counsel in 2014.

Geoffrey White (Okanagan County) was called to the bar in 1997. His practice in Kelowna is focused on estate and charity law. Currently chair of the Okanagan Chapter of the Society of...
Estate and Trust Practitioners, he is also a past board member of the BC Centre for Elder Advocacy and Support. He is a frequent presenter on estate law and co-editor of the CLE Probate and Estate Administration Practice Manual. Mr. White also volunteers with the People in Motion Society and the Salvation Army.

We are very pleased to have Judge Buller, Ms. Lindsay, Ms. MacGregor and Mr. White join the board and we welcome them!

New Chair
At the end of 2014, I finished my term as chair but will continue as a board member in 2015. The new chair of the Law Foundation board, elected for a two-year term beginning January 1, 2015, is Warren Milman. Chair Milman is a partner with the litigation group of McCarthy Tetrault in Vancouver. He practises in the area of commercial litigation and has been involved in a variety of commercial litigation matters, including bankruptcies and class actions, at all levels of court in Canada, including the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Milman earned his law degree from McGill University in 1992 and was called to the British Columbia and California bars in 1993. He is a member of McCarthy Tetrault’s Pro Bono Committee and has previously served as chair of the board of Pro Bono Law BC and vice chair of Access Pro Bono. Mr. Milman has been a governor of the Law Foundation since 2011, serving on the Class Actions (chair, 2013 and 2014), Fellowships and Research (2011 and 2012), Finance (2013), and Policy and Planning (since 2011) committees.

Warren is extremely committed to the well-being of the Law Foundation and its grantees, and will be a wonderful board chair.

The Future
While it is difficult to predict the future, particularly when dealing with interest rates, we do want to ensure that the bar and the community are aware of the following:

- Past boards of the foundation established the grant stabilization fund to ensure continued funding in times of reduced income. The board has used this fund for six years and is prepared to use it prudently in future to support the important work done by the foundation’s programs.

- Foundation governors and staff will continue to work hard to ensure that the foundation receives the income it should, at the best possible rate of return.

- The foundation will do its best to support collaboration amongst grantees.

- Front-line services provided by our grantees will continue to receive priority.

The Law Foundation published the 4th edition of its Diversity Profile in 2014

2014 has been a recovery year for the Law Foundation, and also, we know, for our grantee community. I would like to thank our grantees and their staff and boards for the important work they have done this past year, and for the work they will do in future to enhance access to justice in British Columbia.

In closing, I would like to thank the board of governors, Executive Director Wayne Robertson, QC, and the staff of the Law Foundation for their consistent commitment, hard work and good will. I have been very fortunate to have their steady support over my two years as chair.

Tamara Hunter
Chair 2014
The Law Foundation provides support for the law-related programs and projects described in the Annual Report.

Grants are divided into Continuing Programs and Projects. For reporting purposes, they are listed in the Annual Report under one of the Law Foundation’s five statutorily mandated objectives (see chart). However, many of the organizations’ activities fall under more than one of the mandated areas.

Within each subsection, grants are listed from highest to lowest dollar amounts, rather than alphabetically by name.

Note: This year, the Law Foundation gave several continuing programs transition grants to ease the impact of funding reductions.

Indigenous Community Legal Clinic

This year, the clinic, run by the University of British Columbia Faculty of Law, hired a new legal director, Alex Wolf, and an academic director, Patricia Barkaskas. The clinic offers a space in the Downtown Eastside where clients from the Indigenous community feel welcomed to seek support, referral, advice and representation on legal issues. It also supports, encourages and trains law students interested in dealing with a wide range of legal problems facing Indigenous people. Students gain practical experience, but there is also an academic component to work in the clinic that enhances practical experience.

Executive Directors' Roundtable

In April 2014, the Law Foundation hosted its sixth executive directors’ roundtable. Attending the roundtable were 66 executive directors, representing 62 organizations in 26 communities from across BC. The foundation holds the roundtable in alternating years to provide support for the executive directors of the organizations it funds, to encourage networking among organizations and to allow the foundation an opportunity to hear from executive directors around the province about issues that affect them. This year, they participated in a consultation about access to justice and public legal education and information, as well as sessions such as “Best Practices for Management of Funded Organizations” and “Fundraising.” Many noted that the opportunity for networking provided by the roundtable was of particular value.

Systemic Advocacy Workshop

The foundation was pleased to organize and host a one-day workshop attended by executive directors and staff lawyers from 12 public interest groups, 10 of whom are continuing programs of the foundation. There were a number of presentations on topics such as influencing decision makers, making use of pro bono counsel, and how class action lawsuits can be used to advance systemic change. Outside presenters included lawyers engaged in class actions, lawyers who provide pro bono assistance to public interest groups, and a consultant on the use of social media. Feedback from participants was positive and there was interest in future meetings.
On April 4 of this year, the foundation celebrated its 45th anniversary with the help of approximately 150 grantees, current and former board members, members of the judiciary, MLAs, and other supporters of the foundation.

The celebration provided an opportunity for the many groups and individuals in BC who are working on improving access to justice in the province to gather, appreciate the work that has been done and acknowledge those involved over the years.

David Mossop, QC

David Mossop, QC, retired from the Community Legal Assistance Society (CLAS) in April 2014 after working on poverty law issues for over 40 years. He practised in the areas of poverty, administrative, human rights and constitutional law, and represented clients in courts up to the Supreme Court of Canada several times over his career. He was appointed Queen’s Counsel in 1999 and elected as a bencher in 2008. He was awarded the Social Justice Award in 1990, the Special Award of the Federated Anti Poverty Groups of BC in 1996, and the Special Recognition Award of the Regional Immigrant and Visible Minority Women of BC in 1998.

Susan Henry and Janet Berry

Susan Henry and Janet Berry, poverty law advocates at First United Church, both retired this year. Janet worked at First United for 14 years and Susan for 17 years. Both Susan and Janet helped many grateful clients with a variety of issues, and supported their community in other ways. Janet worked on the planning committee and as a resource person for the Legal Advocacy Training Network, and as a PovNet instructor. Susan was the first Community Justice Scholar at UBC in 2008, doing research on debt and legal literacy issues.

Calvin Tompkins

Calvin Tompkins worked as the auditor for the Law Foundation for 45 years before retiring this year. In fact, Mr. Tompkins has been the Law Foundation’s auditor since its inception. He became a chartered accountant in 1969, the same year that the Law Foundation was formed, and during his career served a wide variety of small- to medium-sized businesses and non-profit organizations. He retired as a partner at the accounting firm of Tompkins, Wozny, Miller and Company this year, and we wish him all the best in his retirement.

To the Governors of
The Law Foundation of British Columbia

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of The Law Foundation of British Columbia, which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2014, and the statements of changes in net assets, operations and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the foundation’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the foundation’s internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Law Foundation of British Columbia as at December 31, 2014, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

The Law Foundation of British Columbia

December 31, 2014

1. NATURE OF ACTIVITIES
The Law Foundation of British Columbia (the foundation) was established in 1969 under the Legal Profession Act of British Columbia as a tax exempt not-for-profit organization to receive and distribute interest on clients’ trust funds held in lawyers’ pooled trust accounts. The foundation is administered by a board of governors who are responsible for distributing these funds, and related investment and other income, to provide legal education, legal research, legal aid, law reform and law libraries for the benefit of the general public of British Columbia. The foundation also periodically administers other funds and programs.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES
These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations and reflect the following significant accounting policies:

Cash Basis — Interest on Lawyers’ Pooled Trust Accounts
The foundation uses the cash basis of reporting interest earned on lawyers’ pooled trust accounts.

The foundation assumes that solicitors who hold funds in trust for or on account of clients comply strictly with Section 62 of the Legal Profession Act and Part 3, Division 7, of the Rules of the Law Society of British Columbia. These rules require that interest earned on funds held in lawyers’ pooled trust accounts be remitted to the foundation.

Investments
Investments consist of money market, bond and equity funds [note 4] comprised of stocks and bonds that are traded on stock exchanges by the fund managers.

Investments are recorded at fair market value. Realized gains (losses) are reported based on their settlement date. Unrealized gains (losses) are reflected as a write-up (write-down) within net investment income. Interest and dividends earned, but not received, are recorded on an accrual basis by the fund managers.

Program and Project Grants Approved
The foundation expenses grants in the current year that provide annual operating funding to organizations covering 12-month periods beginning in the current and subsequent calendar years, plus grants for special projects that may be payable over several years. Grants are reflected as an expense that reduces the grant stabilization fund as they are approved by the foundation’s board of governors. Grants that are not yet paid are reflected as grants payable.

All approved grants contain restrictions on the use of the funds that may result in a portion of the grants payable being withheld, or grants that have been disbursed may be refunded. Grants payable are reversed when the foundation becomes aware that the funds are no longer required or when grant conditions have not been met. Grants refunded to the foundation are reported on a cash basis.

Grants made that are conditional on the receipt of matching funds by the grantee are included in program and project grants approved and grants payable. Unmatched grants may be reversed, transferred to other programs or projects, or the matching condition may be waived, as subsequently approved by the foundation.

Expenditures on programs that are operated by the foundation are included in program and project grants approved as they are disbursed.

Property and Equipment
Expenditures on property and equipment are capitalized and amortized on a straight-line basis as follows:

- Leasehold improvements  term of lease
- Furniture and equipment  5 years
- Computers and accessories  3 years

For property and equipment, except leasehold improvements, one-half the normal amortization is recorded in the year the asset is acquired.

Restricted and Administered Funds
a) Child Welfare Fund
The Child Welfare Fund is an externally restricted grant that is being reported as both income and expense as qualifying expenses are incurred or grants are awarded, in accordance with the deferral method of accounting. Grants not yet paid are grouped with the foundation’s grants payable.

b) Legal Services Society/Law Foundation Research Fund (research fund)
As the foundation administers, but does not exclusively control the expenditures from the research fund, direct expenditures and grants approved are treated as a reduction of the fund. Grants not yet paid are grouped with the foundation’s grants payable. Interest is added annually to the fund.

Use of Estimates
The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure... of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reported period. Significant areas requiring the use of management estimates relate to the determination of the useful lives of capital assets, the determination of certain accrued liabilities, and the dollar value of grants to be paid out within one year. Actual results could differ from the estimates.

Cash
Cash is defined as cash on hand and cash on deposit net of cheques issued and outstanding at the year-end.

The statement of cash flows is prepared on a net cash basis, and cash flows from operating activities are presented using the direct method.

3. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS
The foundation’s financial instruments consist of cash, investments, accounts payable and accrued liabilities and grants payable.

Measurement of Financial Instruments
The foundation initially measures its financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value.

The foundation subsequently measures all of its financial assets and liabilities at amortized cost, except for the investments that are quoted in an active market, which are measured at fair value. Financial instruments measured at amortized cost consist of cash, accounts payable and accrued liabilities and grants payable.

Risk of Financial Instruments
The foundation is exposed to various risks through its financial instruments. The following analysis provides a measure of the foundation’s risk exposure at the balance sheet date.

Credit risk
Credit risk is the risk that one party to the financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. The foundation’s main credit risk relates to fixed income fund investments and bank deposits.

Liquidity risk
Liquidity risk is the risk that an entity will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The foundation is exposed to this risk mainly in respect of its accounts payable and grants payable. As the majority of the foundation’s investments consist of pooled funds, it is the opinion of management that the foundation is not exposed to liquidity or cash flow risk with respect to its investments, nor is it subject to significant concentrations of credit risk. The foundation also sets investment policies and monitors its investments to minimize liquidity risk.

Market risk
Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

Currency risk
Currency risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The foundation’s exposure to currency risk is indicated by its ownership of international bonds and debentures, as described in note 4. The foundation does not engage in hedge transactions.

Interest rate risk
Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The foundation is exposed to interest rate risk on its investments in bond funds where bond interest rates versus market interest rates will affect the price of the bonds and, therefore, the bond fund investment price. The foundation’s interest income received on lawyers’ trust accounts is also subject to interest rate risk.

Other price risk
Other price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual financial instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting all similar financial instruments traded in the market. The foundation is exposed to other price risk through its investment in equity-based fund investments.

The foundation owns 0.3% [December 31, 2013 — 0%] of the units of the CC&L Group Money Market Fund A, 5.0% [December 31, 2013 — 6.7%] of the units of the CC&L High Yield Bond Fund I, 10.0% [December 31, 2013 — 6.6%] of the units of the CC&L Equity Income & Growth I Fund and 2.1% [December 31, 2013 — 2.3%] of the units of the CC&L Bond Fund A.
The BC Ministry of Children and Family Development granted the foundation $1 million in 2004, an additional $2 million in 2006 and $124,000 in 2008 to develop innovative proposals consistent with the guiding principles of the Child, Family and Community Service Act, to expand the use of alternative dispute resolution in child welfare — particularly for Aboriginal children and families. Those grants have now been spent.

In 2009, a $50,000 grant was received from the BC Representative for Children and Youth for the purpose of child welfare evaluation and research, of which $20,000 was unspent at the end of 2012. In 2013, an additional grant of $20,000 was received and $21,000 was spent, leaving a balance of $19,000.

8. LEGAL SERVICES SOCIETY/LAW FOUNDATION RESEARCH FUND (RESEARCH FUND)

The Legal Services Society of BC and the foundation established the research fund with a grant of $1,000,000 each pursuant to a deed of trust dated March 31, 2008. The purpose of the research fund is to support research on and evaluation of legal aid and other access to justice programs to enhance the quality of and access to justice for British Columbians. The research fund is administered by the foundation, and the distribution of the funds is approved by an advisory committee consisting of one nominee from the Legal Services Society, the foundation, and the Notary Foundation. Investment income earned on unexpended funds is added to the research fund.

10. GRANT STABILIZATION FUND

The foundation has a goal of insulating continuing programs from fluctuations in the foundation’s income that result from changes in the prime rate and the balances in lawyers’ pooled trust accounts that generate income to the foundation. To accomplish this goal, the foundation has built up a stabilization fund that declines in years in which the foundation’s net income before grants approved is less than the grants approved, and increases when net income before grants approved is greater than the grants approved.

11. INVESTMENT INCOME (NET)

Investment income (net) comprises:

12. UNCLAIMED TRUST FUNDS AND OTHER INCOME

Unclaimed Trust Funds

Under the Law Society of British Columbia’s (the society) unclaimed trust fund procedures, lawyers submit unclaimed trust funds to the society. The society holds the funds for five years before remitting the money to the foundation. The total received for 2014 was $342,074 [2013 — $194,106].

Other Income

In 2007, the Law Society of British Columbia Pro Bono Funding Task Force (the task force) recommended that the society allocate a portion of annual lawyers’ practice fees to fund pro bono services. The task force noted that the foundation was uniquely well suited to determining recipients of pro bono grant funds and the benchers decided to transfer one percent of the general fund portion of annual lawyers’ practice fees to the foundation to be used for funding pro bono programs. This amount was increased to $340,000 in 2014, of which $47,200 is to be paid towards the rent for the Access Pro Bono Society of BC. The amount received in 2014 was $332,360, allocated $39,333 (adjusted for amounts paid in 2013) to rent, $60,000 to access to justice initiatives and $233,026 to pro bono initiatives. The total other income received for 2014 was $293,026 [2013 — $169,382].
